

Timberland Factory Disclosure

As a first step in redesigning our Code of Conduct program, we are disclosing our factory list. This list includes active factories that have produced Timberland® products for the 2005 product line. Because our supply chain is constantly changing, the list represents our best attempt to disclose all of Timberland's active factories. We believe, along with others in our industry, that factory disclosure and collaboration can create common standards and shared solutions – helping to advance global human rights in all of our factories.

The factories on this list include footwear and apparel manufacturers, as well as Supplier, Tannery, and Distributor factories, which represent over 90% of the Timberland® products sold in 2004. Due to contractual restrictions at this time, we cannot disclose the names and locations of factories used by our licensees. The factory list includes the name, address, business unit, and description of what type of work is performed at each location. The definitions of each type of work is listed below:

Core work includes products that are manufactured year round (i.e. jean and boot production)

Seasonal work produces product for a specific season (i.e. spring or fall product line)

Incidental work includes one-off production and the manufacturing of accessories
